STATUTES

OF THE

FOUNDATION

Geneva Science and Diplomacy Anticipator (GESDA)

PREAMBLE

1. Considering that the Confederation supports, through its policy and its Host State Act of 22 June 2007 (HSA), the joint strategy of the Confederation, the Republic and Canton of Geneva and the City of Geneva to strengthen Switzerland's competitiveness as a host State for international organizations, in accordance with the relevant decisions of the relevant federal, cantonal and municipal authorities;
2. Considering that Switzerland's host State policy must be able to anticipate developments in international relations and global governance, both in terms of the priority themes and the modalities of international cooperation that will be necessary to respond to them;
3. Considering that it is in this context:
 - a) to provide itself with the means to define the main future orientations and to position Switzerland, as host country, as a major actor in these developments;
 - (b) to provide the Federal Council, the Republic and Canton of Geneva and the City of Geneva with the means to adapt the conditions of reception, work, integration and security in Switzerland within the meaning of the Host State Act;
 - c) to raise awareness of Switzerland as a host country and the benefits it can offer to the harmonious and effective development of priority themes and actions of global governance;
 - (d) promote public-private partnerships and the involvement of the world's population in the development of innovative solutions through cyberspace.
4. Considering finally that science and technology, including the global convergence between information sciences, nanosciences, biosciences and cognitive neurosciences:
 - a) are the driving forces behind an unprecedented economic, social and political acceleration that simultaneously affects all States, world populations and our natural, urban, industrial and social resources and environments;
 - b) that this acceleration requires new modes of reflection, action, financing and governance adapted to the speed of development and diffusion of current and future scientific and technological disruptions;
 - c) that Geneva, an important centre of global governance, and that Switzerland, a neutral country with strong links to the world, known for its scientific and technological excellence, can become the natural place to develop solutions for the future that meet the complexity of scientific, technological, economic and social acceleration;
 - (d) that the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of 10 December 1948 provides in Article 27 that "everyone has the right freely to participate in the cultural life of the community, to enjoy the arts and to share in scientific progress and its benefits".
5. On this basis, the Swiss Confederation, through its Federal Council, and the Canton of Geneva, through its Council of State, have decided, on 20 February 2019, to establish the Foundation called Geneva Science and Diplomacy Anticipator, governed by the present statutes, which have been:
 - a) validated by the Supervisory Authority of the Foundations of the Confederation (hereinafter referred to as the Supervisory Authority);
